

Projects

Growth opportunities

In the current market environment, Newcrest will focus on production from its high-quality core assets and has deferred longer-dated studies and major capital expenditure. However, a number of growth options have been retained for potential future development as market conditions improve.

